

MAY 1ST-5TH OWL

Outdoor Wilderness Lab

OWL is a week-long experiential science lab that takes place annually on the north slopes of the Grand Mesa. OWL is joint partnership between the Mesa County Valley School District 51 and Colorado Parks and Wildlife (CPW).

OWL creates an authentic learning experience that challenges students to engage not only with the content and skills of the curriculum being taught, but with the complex world around them as well. This unique experience connects them to their learning making it meaningful and lasting.
